Stewart Announces 16 New MFP Models from Xerox®!

Mount Laurel, NJ (June 30, 2017) – We are excited to announce sixteen (16) new Xerox® Multifunction Device (MFD) models from Stewart, A Xerox Company. Available in late July 2017, these new A3 devices are the very latest in cutting-edge office technology from Xerox® Corporation. The VersaLink® and AltaLink® Series both offer ConnectKey® Technology, transforming these devices into smart workplace assistants. The ConnectKey® Technology includes tablet-like touch screens that are both familiar and customizable. These touch screens make it easy to utilize the device's App Gallery, which contains useful printing and scanning apps and can be personalized to fit every environment.

ConnectKey® Technology also makes these devices more mobile- and cloud-ready than ever before, so users can print, scan, and share from the cloud or their phones. Built-in Benchmark Printer Security keeps user's documents secure, and Managed Print Services allow users to optimize their device usage by accessing them remotely. The VersaLink® and AltaLink® Series offer a wide range of Color and Black-and-White devices. Therefore, Stewart is sure to have the right device for every client's needs, all with the very latest in office technology and backed by Stewart's Signature Service!
